

19 June 2019

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT FOR THE REGIONS KEY DRIVER FOR JO AT POINTER

RDA Riverina is excited support project partner and Riverina entrepreneur Jo Palmer as a finalist at the 2019 NSW-ACT AgriFutures™ Rural Women's Award. Jo is the founder of Pointer Remote Roles, an online platform that helps to connect business to the talent living in regional, rural and remote regions.

RDA Riverina CEO and Director of Regional Development Rachel Whiting said, 'Jo's business is another piece of the puzzle in supporting business to find the right people with the skills needed to grow our region. Workforce Development is a key project for RDA Riverina, and we have worked with Jo on a number of occasions to promote her business and the opportunity she can provide to business and to talented professionals living remotely'.

Best wishes for Jo at the awards ceremony tonight!

https://www.dpi.nsw.gov.au/data/assets/pdf_file/0019/1112068/four-nsw-finalists-announced-for-prestigious-rural-award.pdf

- ENDS -

MEDIA NOTE: For more information or to arrange interviews, contact RDA Riverina CEO and Director of Regional Development Rachel Whiting on 0429 444 213.

An Australian Government Initiative